

Biostatistics Student Travel Support Award

The Biostatistics & Data Science Program provides travel support awards to full-time Biostatistics students who present at national professional meetings, conferences (such as JSM and ENAR), or related events. Travel funds are limited and will be provided to BSDS students who have presented or will present at an internal (e.g., Graduate Research Day, Delta Omega Presentation, or LCRC Scientific Retreat) or local meeting (e.g., ASA LA Chapter meeting), with priority given to PhD students and first-time applicants.

Applications for travel awards will be evaluated by a Biostatistics Program committee twice a year. The deadlines for submitting applications for future travel support are February 1 and September 1, with decisions made within 2 weeks. Travel support is up to $500 per award.

Please forward all applications (via email) to Dr. Evrim Oral, Biostatistics Graduate Coordinator. Each application should include the following information:

- Conference Name
- Conference Dates
- Conference Location
- Type of Presentation (poster, oral)
- Title of Presentation
- Have you applied for a travel award from the conference sponsor (e.g., ASA, ENAR)?
- When and where will/did you present the work internally or locally?
- Do you have other sources of funding? If so, please list sources and amounts.

Note: Funds can only be used to provide reimbursement of travel expenses covered by the LSUHSC travel policy and with appropriate receipts.
